Foreword

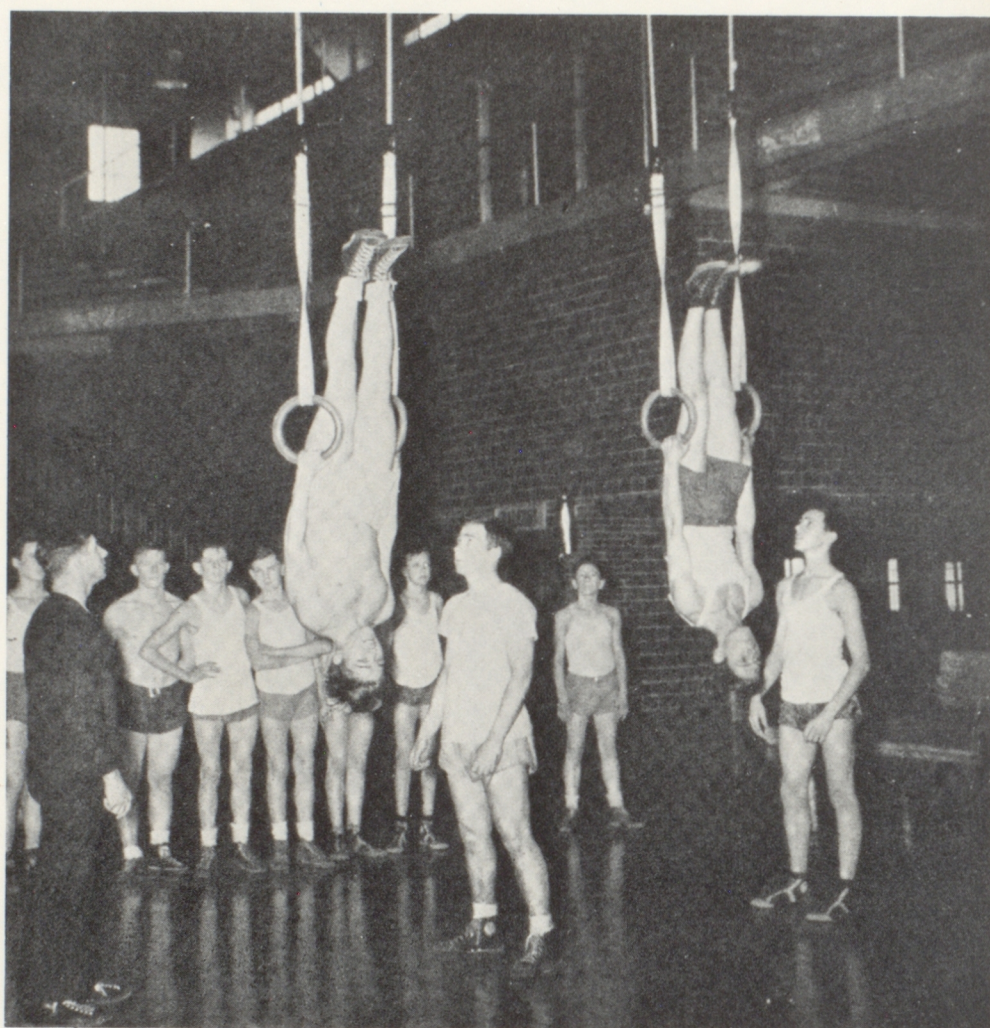

In this, the centennial year for graduating from Jeffersonville High School, the Topic is pleased to present the Class of 1971. As each student passes beneath this arch, his journey becomes a record of experience, truth, and knowledge. May he be at home in all lands and ages; count nature a familiar acquaintance and art an intimate friend; gain a standard for the appreciation of other men's work and the criticism of his own; carry the keys of the world's library in his pocket, and feel its resources behind him in whatever he undertakes; make hosts of friends among the people of his own age who are to be leaders in all walks of life; lose himself in generous enthusiasms and cooperate with others for common ends. May this graduate strive, seek, find, and not yield as he repeats the words of Alfred Lord Tennyson: "... I am a part of all that I have met; Yet all experience is an arch where thro gleams that untravell'd world whose margin fades for ever and for ever when I move."

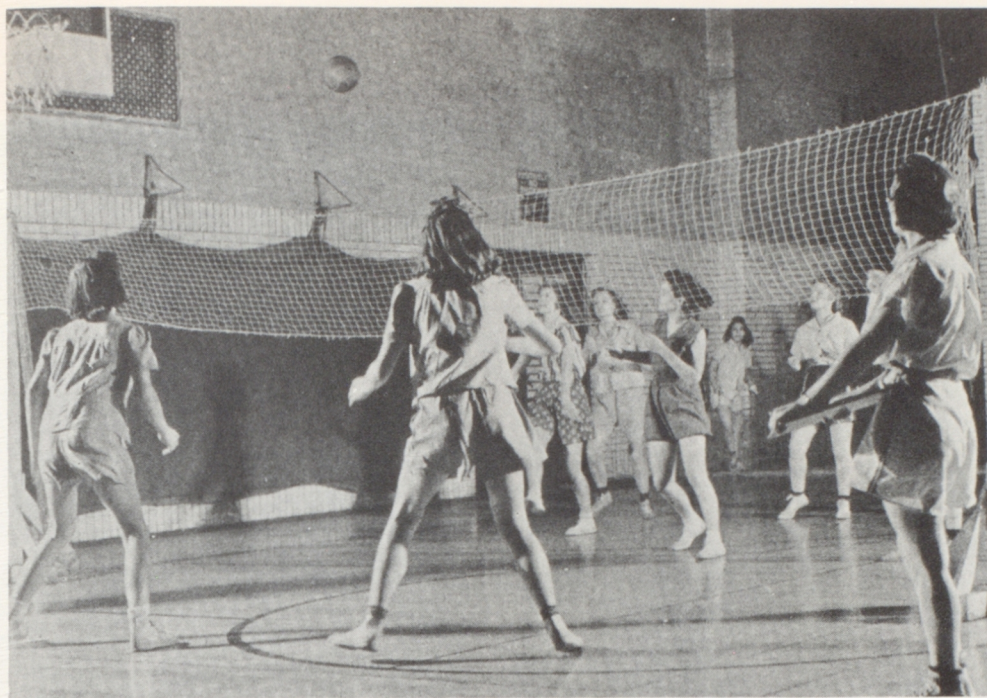

Dedication

To the Students of the Past whom we know as the loyal alumni of Today and to the Alumni of our Tomorrows whom we address as the Students of Today, made one by friendship and ideal that are Forever this book is lovingly dedicated.

Looking Backward Through Our History

The development of public education in Jeffersonville has been an interesting process. Many problems have been solved and decisions made. Ordinary human prejudice has been a major problem. In early days people looked upon Public Education as a charitable institution. With the building of two new schools for public use a private school flourished on the adjoining block. Time solved this problem and private education passed away.

A spirit of Nationalism carried from Europe served as a source of friction between German and English groups but school officials were inclined to be conciliatory and these prejudices died with passing generations.

Racial prejudice had been evident in early developments but, after one short-lived attempt to provide opportunities in the same building, both white and Negro schools enjoyed the same curriculum and had building facilities similar but separate. Time integrated these groups into a harmonious educational program.

Jeffersonville High School seems to have made a speciality of outgrowing its buildings. There is evidence that school officials have sincerely tried to develop a curriculum to meet the needs of city young people, even though hampered by facilities.

Through the years the curriculum has changed with the times to provide the youth of Jeffersonville with various programs with emphasis in areas of vocation, art, and music available. Teachers of highest qualifications have been obtained and those in service are urged to increase collegiate training. Married women were not permitted to hold teaching positions until the 1950's—then equality was reached.

This traditional high school—first organized in 1868—has found solid foundations within the community, has had many students pass beneath its arch, and will provide experiences mixed with memories for One Last Look.

The Student Lives

Education is itself a way of living.
If you really appreciate your school life, make an investment day by day toward classroom obligations and become critical of using leisure time.

Use your knowledge by thinking, by talking, and by writing about the things you are learning . . . Apply your knowledge as soon as possible. We learn by doing; there is no substitute for work.

Hail-Farewell

Mr. William Henry Reeves greeted the students for orientation in August as usual. The first day is for freshmen; then, sophomores, juniors, and seniors on the next day. Little did we the 100th graduating class—who had entered Jeffersonville High School the year Mr. Reeves became principal—realize that he would not award our diplomas.

"It's very difficult to leave a school once you have become attached to it, as I have become attached to J.H.S." said Mr. Reeves. "I love this high school and it will always hold a warm place in my heart." His feelings for the future of Jeff were expressed positively, "I know that Jeff will be one of the Great High Schools in the Midwest because we do have a wonderful faculty and a student body that responds to education. And I'm sure in future years J.H.S. will be the school that leads this area in innovations, new curriculum as well as in the Standard programs," he said. "I also feel after we get the new high school, Jeff will have the number 1 high school in the state."

Mr. Reeves accepted the position of Superintendent of the Concorn Community School System in Elkhart, Indiana, where he formerly held the position of principal at Elkhart High School.

In parting Mr. Reeves said, "I hope in the future I will be visiting with the students and faculty of J.H.S. And I'll be here to buy Jeff's entire football team a steak dinner at the victory celebration when we play New Albany!"

"My first impression of the student body at Jeff High is very favorable. I am impressed with the friendliness and courtesy of the students," said Mr. Terry Cummins, our new principal.

Mr. Cummins previously taught English and physical education at Meade County, Kentucky, was Director of Pupil Personnel for Pendleton County Schools, and then became principal at Pendleton County High School where flexible modular scheduling and team teaching are used.

Mr. Cummins has been involved in educational activities by serving on committee for Secondary School Evaluation for Accreditation with the State Department of Education, by conducting state and regional workshops on flexible modular scheduling, and by serving on national committee to help plan for future development of National Association of Secondary School Principals. He received a KASA Scholarship in 1970 from the University of Kentucky and also served as I.D.E.A. Fellow at national institute. Mr. Cummins assisted in sponsoring the 1968 National Association of Student Council European Tour for International Understanding and was appointed by the governor as member of Professional Practices Commission of Kentucky.

Mr. Terry Cummins received his A.B. degree from Transylvania University in 1956; served in the U.S. Navy 1956-1958; then earned M.A. degree from University of Kentucky in 1961.

Seasons Change—Autumn, Winter, Spring

Autumn clasped her boughs
Over the burnished brook Trying,
In vain,
To shelter it from the white
death.

The willful brook
Laughed at Autumn's feeble effort and Ripped,
with savagery,
Through her heart.

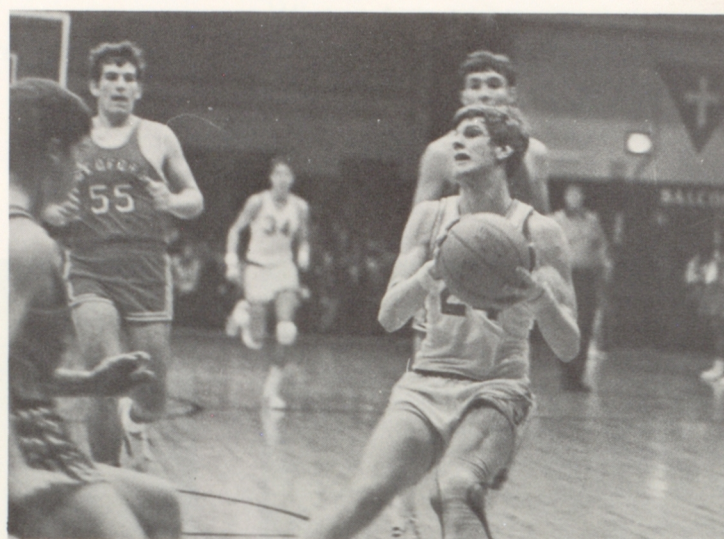

Winter, Autumn's avenging cousin
Slapped the brook with an icy hand, and Earth
In weariness,
Closed her eyes and slept.

"Winter is on my head, but eternal spring is in my heart."
Victor Hugo

There Is Something—Our School Spirit

There's something about this school something intangible. Something intense and moving. Perhaps it's the years of tradition that one knows lie behind it. Perhaps it's the thousands who have gone before us trodding the well-worn halls. But no—it's more than that.

It's the sense of pride in removing your hat as you enter the building. It's the thrill of seeing a red and white pennant, or a red and white button, or merely red and white together. It's two thousand boys and girls standing to pledge our flag, or rising as one in honor of the coach, or a speaker or a teacher. It's the wild cry of exhilaration issuing from two thousand throats in perfect rhythm. It's the cold tingle that runs through you as you stand and sing "On Red Devils." It's the rollicking comradeship that follows V-I-C-T-O-R-Y. It's Jeffersonville High School scribbled on countless notebooks. It's the pictures in the hall and the trophies crowding their cases. It's the joy of seeing a resplendent band swing on the field in perfect coordination and of knowing it's the best; and it's the tense expectancy as eleven red and white-clad figures on a white-lined field fight for all these things, and pride in knowing that, win or lose, that team is best because it's ours. And it's pride that swells in our hearts as we take one last look at this building knowing we are Jeffersonville High School.

Horst Schlichtkrull Exchanges Good-Will

Coming to live with the William Scott family for this school year, Horst Schlichtkrull represented well his native land, Germany, as our American Field Service Exchange student.

Horst has been guest speaker for various classes, schools in the area, fraternal organizations, clubs, and the PTA Founders' Day Banquet.

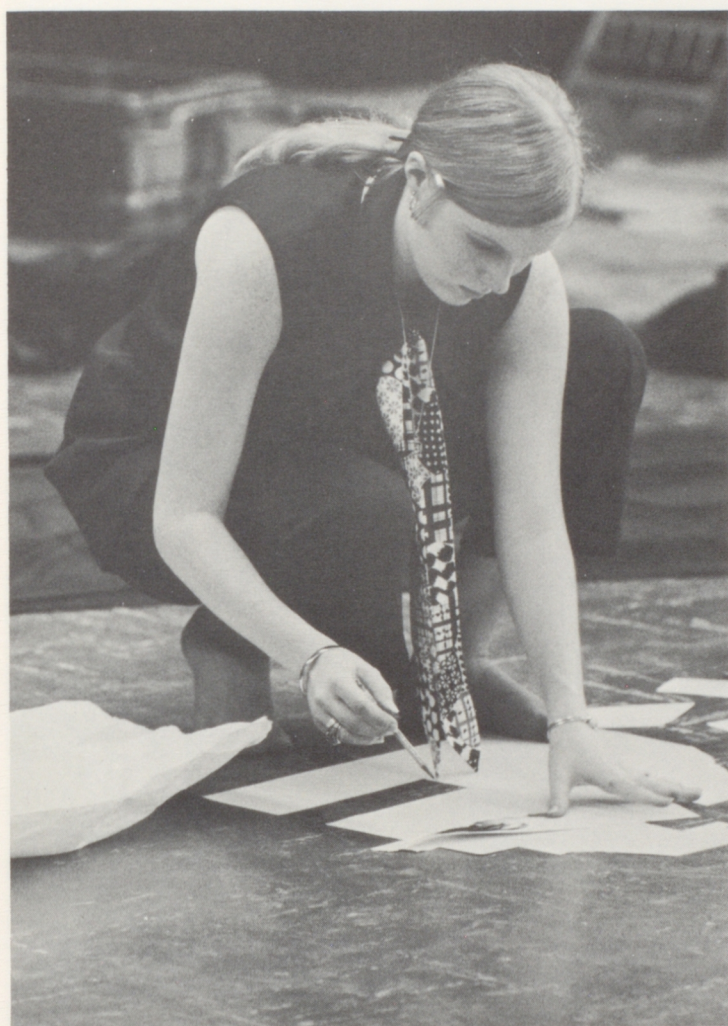

In speaking about his educational system in Germany Horst noted that only twenty-eight percent attend higher institutions of learning. The importance of further education begins at grade four where testing promotes the capable to a more competitive role. However, some students may go to middle school later or have job training programs.

Horst Schlichtkrull's ambition is to serve as a representative of his country in some public relations capacity since he is a dynamic speaker, trained in many languages. Horst has served as "big" brother to Lisa, JoAnn, and Jeannie while being companion to Bill. Jeffersonville will long remember this personable ambassador of good will. His home address for those classmates who wish to write is 2 Hamburg 72, Weiselweg 3 Germany.

whispering
Secrets to the shifting shore;
Telling of the far-away places and Mysterious people it has seen as
It swishes to and fro, to and fro.

telling tales
To the towering trees;
Tales of stars in the heavens, of Birds in the sky, of flowers
Fluttering in the breeze.

Shh, you can hear the angels singing
Songs of love and peace
So soft and low that you
Must listen with your heart.
Shh!

JEFFERSONVILLE HIGH SCHOOL

The Student Learns

Jeffersonville High School is noted for its high educational standards, its expanding curriculum, its qualified faculty numbering over one-hundred, and its progressive building program soon to become a reality . . . no longer a dream. Therefore, the words of Abraham Lincoln are most fitting and proper, "I will study and get ready and the opportunity will come."

Realize Challenges—Needs of Community

None of us can recall the individual feats that were attained by the first graduates of Jeffersonville High School 100 years ago. Similarly, individual accomplishments of graduates in the centennial class will be diminished by a corresponding lapse of time. The traditions of Jeffersonville High School, however, reflect the influence of each succeeding class and the teachers who served it. This anniversary can point with pride to the part it has played in perpetuating and modifying the traditions which have made Jeffersonville High School a source of esteem for a constantly growing and changing community.

The class of 1971 serves to close a chapter in the history of Jeffersonville's education enterprise. It can also continue to serve its community by writing new chapters of accomplishment to which future classes can aspire.

Working Hands That Command, Soothe,

I believe in people, and I believe that great accomplishments can occur when people work together and move toward common goals. I believe the people of the Jeffersonville Community want an outstanding school.

As we look toward the future and consider the tremendous new building, the plans for individualizing learning through flexible scheduling, and when we consider the human resources available, it becomes evident that we can and we must move forward. I consider it a real challenge and a unique opportunity to work with and for the young people of Jeffersonville High School.

Counselors Schedule Students While

The most interesting and important thing in the world for you is to work out your own individual life. You must build it from the place where you stand and with the materials in your hands. Nobody else ever stood in your particular place or ever will stand in one identical; nobody ever has or can possess the same materials. You alone can fuse the elements. Hold your place; do not try to shift into the place that another occupies. Keep your eye on what you have to work with, not on what somebody else has. The ultimate result, the originality, flavor, distinction, usefulness of your life depend on the care, the reverence, and the intelligence with which you work up and out from where you are and with what you have. At this school you are being prepared for life. The Guidance Department helps you to learn, to think, to judge, and to achieve self-determination as you pursue this information-gathering-and sorting period in your training. The counselors are always ready to work, to plan, and to prepare you for a rewarding future.

Athletics Are Coordinated With Coaches

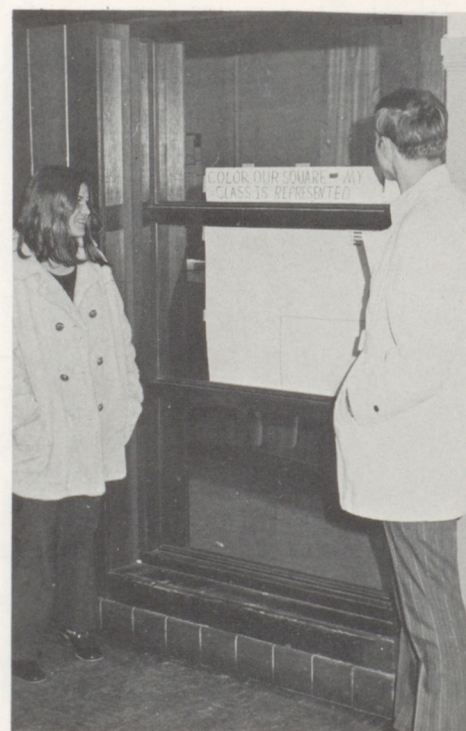

"I came back with increased knowledge. The Knowledge I gained will be useful in handling the sports program in the future," commented Athletic Director Willis Cheesman after attending his first Midwest Regional Athletic Directors' Conference. Topics discussed that are common to all schools were crowd control, legal aspects of sports, medical controversies, and the promotion of athletics. Mr. Cheesman became Jeffersonville's athletic director this year. He has devoted hours to coordinating the many sports activities as well as working individually with coaches to help them have the best conditions, equipment, and facilities. Helping as assistant football coach and serving as track coach certainly qualifies our director to know and understand the needs of a full program including these sports: Football, Cross-Country, Wrestling, Golf, Tennis, Basketball, Gymnastics, Baseball, and Track.

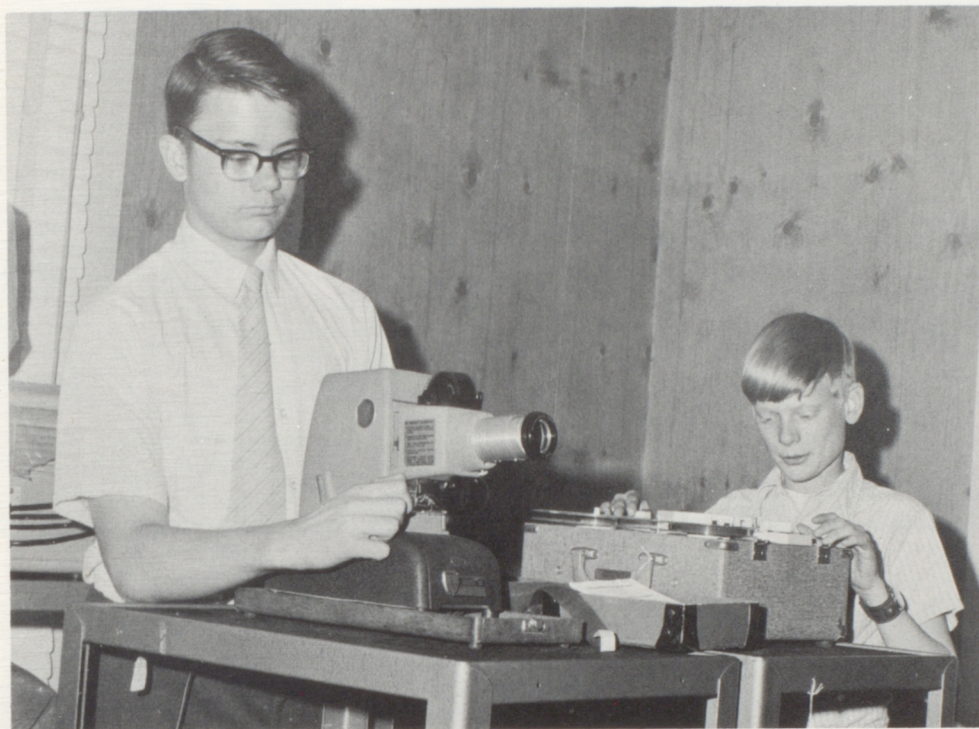

The Girls' Athletic program has been expanded to include track, tennis, and golf teams. In the future swim teams as well as more competitive sportsmen will don red blazers to represent JHS and continue gaining respect and recognition.

Audio-Visual Materials Are Challenging

MR. WILLIAM HUBER
AV Director

The primary concern or purpose of the A.V. Department, located in the former Administration Building, is the implementation of audio-visual materials in the school's curriculum. To achieve this purpose the department is responsible for the following areas: (a) audio-visual materials, films, filmstrips, records, tapes, transparencies, etc. to provide learning experiences; (b) special equipment—various types of projectors, recorders, phonographs, duplicating equipment, and screens to make experiences visible and/or audible; (c) class room facilities for powering the equipment for making them memorable; (d) bringing all of the preceding together at a time appropriate for the teacher and the class; (e) helping teachers to select and use audio-visual materials and equipment effectively.

Since the 1969-70 school year, some materials such as tapes, filmstrips, records, and transparencies as well as a large portable screen and a drymount press have been added to the department.

At present both facilities and equipment are limited. However, the department is looking toward the 1971-72 school year and the new high school where improved facilities and equipment will better help this area serve the total school program.

Business Candidates Learn Basic Skills

Preparing for the future is the sincere concern of the Business Department. Expansion has been limited by facilities. Every hour all of the typewriters are busily preparing students to meet the future. Bookkeeping, shorthand, data processing, and clerical practice are among the skills offered to students who desire preparation for prospective office work. Experience in the application of skills and knowledges can be acquired in school.

In almost any vocation typing is needed. Therefore, the importance of this skill is not taken lightly. Realizing that the improvement of one's typing ability requires regular practice, this department strives to implement sufficient time for practice and assist students in gaining self-confidence. Many who follow the business curriculum will obtain immediate employment. The faculty of the Business Department provides an important link toward the preparation of efficient students who will venture into occupational life.

English Involves Basic Understandings

English is essential for communication. Grammar, literature, speech, composition, vocabulary, and spelling equip students for life. The English Department attempts to provide experiences in meaningful classroom situations where the student can gain better understanding and prepare himself for advanced courses if he so desires. For all youth the ability to communicate is a bridge crossing many gaps. Writing is living, is experiencing, is believing and being in rhythm with the deceptively simple processes of life.

Wear your youth boldly, bravely,
Talents, features are at prime.
Mold the clay, gently, firmly,
To armor off the endless time.
Wave Youth's banner, high and holy,
Take it with you down's Life's roads,
For when those roads get rough and broken
Youth will lighten heavy loads.
Youth came by and kissed your cheek,
And when that cheek is old and wrinkled,
The memories of that kiss will speak.
So wear your youth, boldly,
bravely,
Your talents, features are at prime,
And when your clay has dried and molded,
Youth will armor off the time.

Below: Library workers who supplement the staff are Marcia Miller, Robin Barnett, Charlotte Davis, Lynne Kendall, Rubyanne Brown, Margaret Bartley, and Judy Broady.

The Library may be small in size but performs a mammoth task in providing resources for students and faculty. Information for term papers, reports, occupational goals, and personal enjoyment is housed in this inviting area where many students find the quietness essential for their preparations. Keeping up with current events can be vital to the inquiring mind whose supply is supplemented with magazines and newspapers. The pleasing atmosphere nurtures cooperation and a refuge from this bustling world if one only has an hour to seek the wisdom, knowledge, and love discovered through books.

How much easier it would be if I were a
Spider dabbed with the gold from the sun
And could spin my desires into a weightless
Dream—and when man, blundering through,
Tore it down I'd simply build another one.

Art Offers Option in Design or Crafts

Throughout the Greater Clark community can be seen and heard the talented students of J.H.S. The Art program offers design or crafts as definite areas of concentration. Evidence of the students' abilities are found in local exhibits, Student Theatre productions, posters depicting various timely subjects and especially school spirit, and merit awards won by participants.

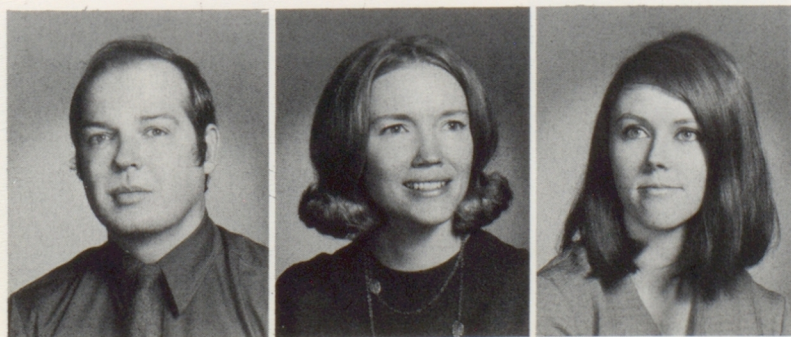

The training band, intermediate band, concert band, symphonic band, and marching band contribute much cultural interest in the community. The pep band creates enthusiasm at pep rallies and games. Proud of their new uniforms are all members who demonstrate publically their talent and school spirit.

The orchestra has added another facet of growing interest for music lovers. Outstanding has been its growth and development.

The choral department has entertained the school and the community with its various voices: Freshmen Chorus, Intermediate Choir, Advanced Girls' Chorus, Concert Choir, and special Madrigal singers (small groups for each grade level). Special voice classes are scheduled and music history and theory may be studied by music majors who desire classroom instruction as well as participation.

Speak and Think in Foreign Languages

The Language Department continues to emphasize communication with other people through speaking and studying other languages. The opportunity and ability provided by this knowledge of languages will better our understanding of the people, their culture, and their problems. In the various language courses pattern sentences and questions as well as sample conversations based upon possible real situations permit practice in using the language. Studying grammar and structure reinforce and explain the spoken language. In the lab tapes encourage correct pronunciation and serve as a means of comparison with native linguistics. Students build up vocabulary and capability by giving short speeches, by playing word games, and by creating skits.

In the second and third year programs offer more opportunity for self-expression. Students can better read and discuss conversational materials in small groups. Horst Schlichtkrull, our exchange student from Germany, visits German classes frequently. The Spanish students are planning a trip to Mexico while the French students are busily engaged in raising funds for a trip to Canada. Many dinners and parties have been held informally to introduce various menus to the groups—admission by special German, Spanish, or French recipe only. A Latin banquet will be served by costumed Gallic slaves to their toga-clad masters. The Language Department seeks to give all students an opportunity to become proficient and strives to make this learning enjoyable.

The Mathematics Department offers programs for students who wish to complete 1, 2, 3, 4, or 5 years of mathematics courses while attending high school. If the student wishes to have the maximum preparation, he "doubles up" by taking two mathematics courses in one year (preferably during the sophomore year).

Our latest curriculum revision became effective in September, 1970, when fourth-year mathematics became Introduction to Analysis, and Calculus was introduced as the fifth-year course.

At the freshman level, the incoming student may enroll in four different mathematics courses: Basic Mathematics, Pre-Algebra, Elementary Algebra (regular), or Elementary Algebra (enriched). Ability groupings in freshman, sophomore and junior years are intended to give each student the opportunity to work at a level that most nearly suits his own achievement and ability.

The Physical Education Department continues to excel with improved programs and equipment. Boys' physical education classes participate in team sports and individual achievement. Equipment added last year makes various phases of gymnastics a part of the curriculum as well as tests of physical fitness such as the Marine test, rope climbing, and weight-lifting more developmental or body-building techniques. Girls' physical education classes learn team sports such as soccer, basketball, and softball. A cooperative program with the Youngstown Bowling Lanes makes bowling techniques available to all girls. Both team sports and individual development are widely used to build young ladies physically. Programs are presented to aid them in developing character growth. All students in their respective Physical Education programs are exposed to sound physical fitness and to strong mental alertness.

Middle: Competing to better their endurance are Linden Dodd and Phil Steele. Far left: Lining-up to improve jumping skills is this athletic group. Left: Terry Schoen warms-up with routine exercises.

Health is required for most freshmen. Learning the names of the bones, muscles, and areas of the brain proves a bit difficult for many, but rewarding when accomplished.

Exposure to dangers and damages caused by alcohol, drugs, and nicotine makes students more knowledgeable and should help them set constructive goals to follow. Films, speakers, and demonstrations are useful tools of instruction because students can see the value and need for continual emphasis.

Upper right: Events related to health are shared in discussions. Middle: Sophomores use muscles studied about in Health 9. Lower right: Mr. Hill explains an awareness for dangers. Above: Mr. Cheesman points to needs of propaganda. Below: Projects make health modern.

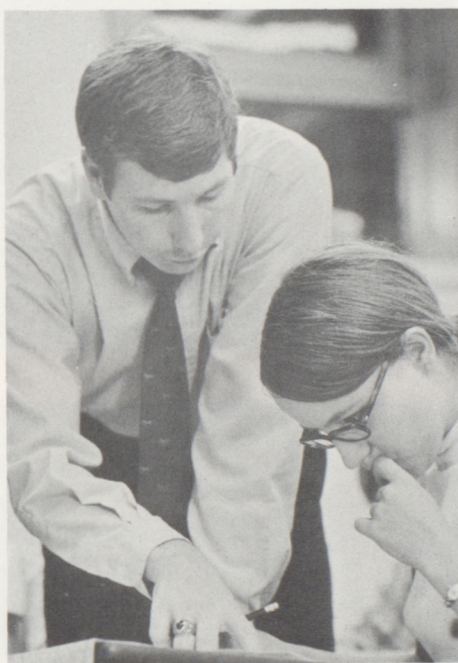

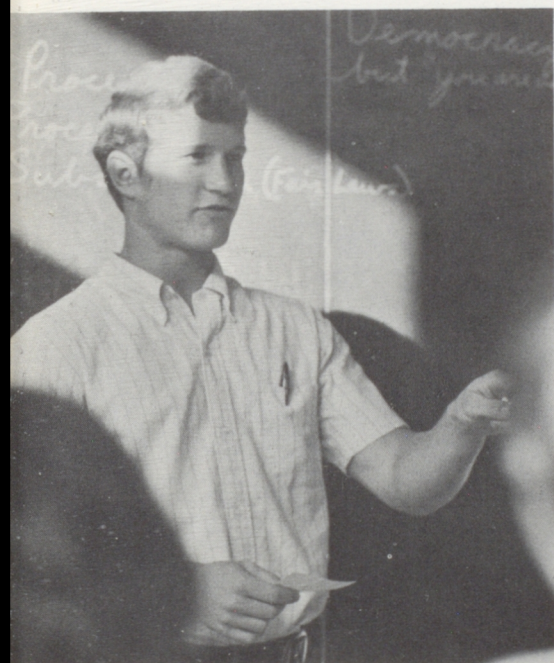

Studies of Past Reveal Present Events

The Social Studies teacher tries to make application of the accumulated knowledge of the many social science fields. An appreciation and understanding of the development of our national institutions is accomplished through a study of great civilizations and early nation states in World History.

The story of the tremendous growth of the American people unfolds in United States History. Our governmental and economic institutions and practices are closely examined in our senior Government and Economics classes. Seniors also have the opportunity to investigate the human mind, personality, social issues, and problems in Psychology and Sociology.

Exploring Invites Challenge of Teaching

Exploratory Teaching is a program of one semester coordinated by Mr. Hutslar, Social Studies chairman. The purpose of this course is to give potential teachers an opportunity to visit classrooms at kindergarten, elementary, and junior high levels as well as special education. While the orientation period of visiting progresses, most students find varied tasks which can aid the cooperating teachers. After observing these levels, students teach a class for the group. During the second nine-weeks period assisting one teacher is the prime objective. Students may perform whatever duties the supervising teacher assigns them. The involvement in this program is beneficial to teachers and students who aspire toward these goals.

Investigative Study Functions in Science

Limited by physical facilities the Science Department offers courses designed to enable all students to participate more intelligently in our technological society. The investigative study of structures and functions of living organisms, their interaction with the environment and interdependence of populations and individuals is Biology. Another course designed to de-emphasize scientific terminology and classification is known as Biology—Living Things.

Chemistry is built around concepts of atomic structure, bonding, stoichiometry, and other changes that accompany chemical reactions. Chem Study is a more scientific procedure wherein student experiences in laboratory investigation can be drawn upon directly. Physics is an investigative study and synthesis of the fundamental concepts of mechanics, wave motion, heat, light, magnetism, electromagnetism, and electricity.

The Science Department will find much improved conditions at the new high school and plans additional courses at all grade levels both general and more technological in content.

Responsibility Adds Ever-Widening Scope

"Consumer and Home Education"—the new label given to studies formerly called Home Economics—reflects the emphasis being placed on skills dealing with money and time.

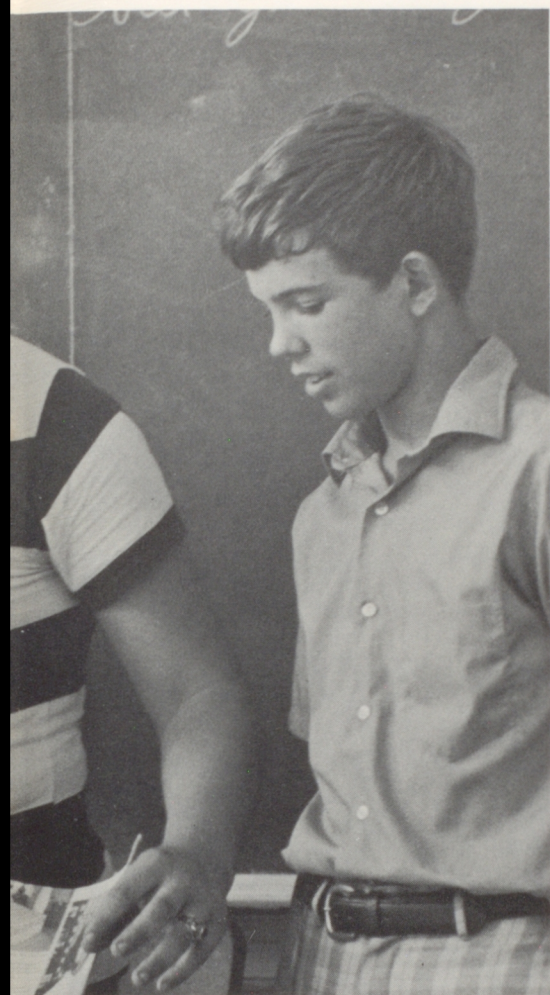

The modern homemaker controls the greatest part of the family income; she may work outside the home as well as in her home.

From laundering to figuring true interest, from preparing a feast from inexpensive meats to hemming a midi, from making beds to studying textiles, from discussing how to choose a mate to evaluating floor plans are directions taken by the ever-widening scope of home responsibility, the foremost concern of consumer and home education.

Careers Stem from Industrial Training

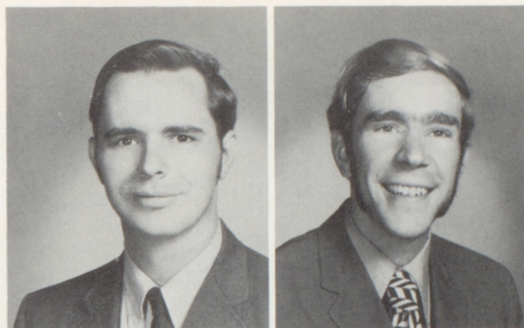

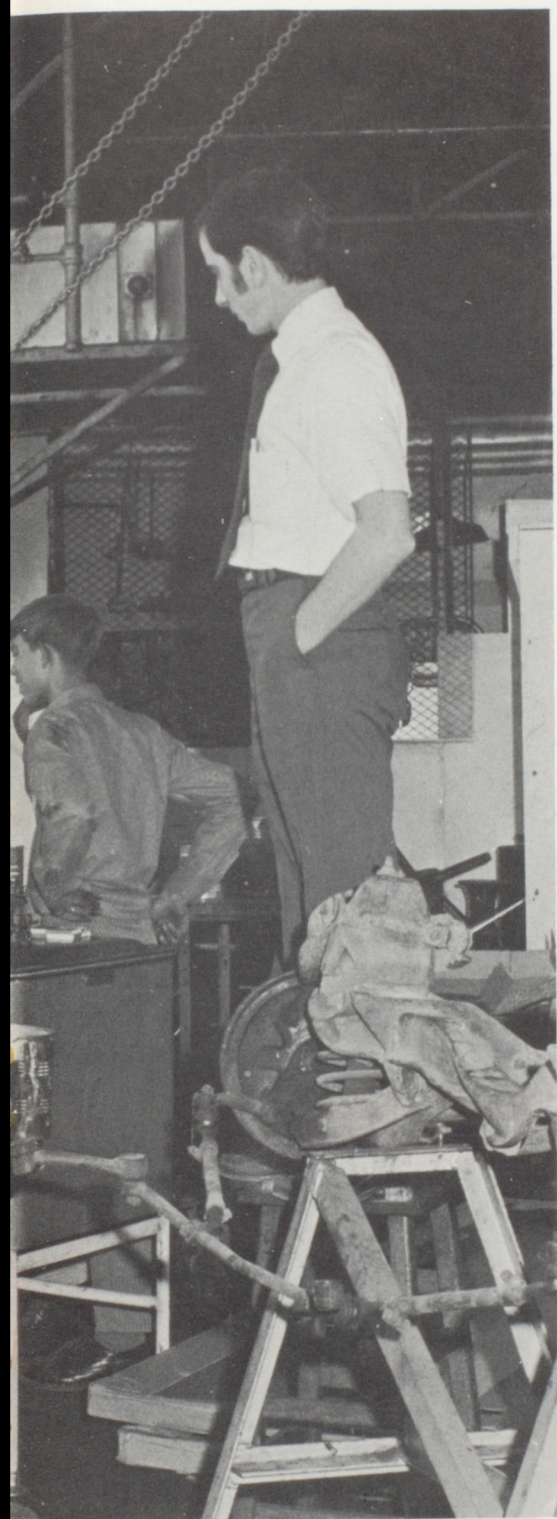

The Industrial Arts Department can train students for immediate employment upon graduation or it can provide the foundations for more advanced vocational training. The power mechanics class offers the students an opportunity to learn the theory of operation of the modern automobile, electric motors, gasoline, diesel, gas, and other fuel burning engines, and the role these devices play in American industry. Emphasis is placed on a study of the components that make up these different power-producing devices in order that the student understands and be able to service them properly.

The wood shop class gives students an activity approach to learning opportunities for individual work. The study of fundamental tools, materials, and processes make other required courses more meaningful as the direct correlation is compared. The practice and concern for safe work habits are stressed. Students are introduced to career opportunities qualifying them to better judge manufactured products as well as instructing them in the function and significance of industrial technology.

In the drafting lab basic instrument drawing and sketching lead to more advanced drawing, architecture; then, the third year program, machine drawing. The first year deals with four major areas: mechanical drafting, dimensioning and sectional views, auxiliary views and pictorial drawings, and developments and intersections. During the second year each student designs and builds his model home. The third year provides opportunity for students to design and draw working drawings.

The Student Participates

Activities thrive with participation. Organizations express student voices in government, in scholarship, in service projects, in performances, in entertainment, in international relations, in future prospects, in practical experience, in developing skills, and in encouraging school spirit. Dr. Albert Schweitzer had excellent advice to youth in these words, "I don't know what your destiny will be, but one thing I know: The only ones among you who will be really happy are those who have sought and found how to serve . .

D.E.C.A. began this year with a joint initiation ceremony at New Albany in which Jeffersonville initiated approximately sixty new members. During the year different products have been successfully sold to students and the community. Snoopy and love plaques were reordered; Christmas candles were completely grabbed up early; red jackets and navy blue jackets with devil emblem pleased the purchasers; candy disappeared rapidly; and finally tee-shirts with class numerals have become fashion musts.

In regional competition our chapter had two 1st place medals and two 2nd place winners. Then onto the State Conference at Indianapolis in January. Two representatives and Mr. Combs, sponsor, went to San Antonio, Texas in April. All funds used by this organization were profits from D.E.C.A.'s tremendous selling program. The employers banquet was well attended when Distributive Education held "Bosses Night" at the Robert E. Lee in conjunction with other local chapters.

Bartonettes Service Community Needs

Service to the community was the objective of Bartonettes. All parties given by this organization were for groups not always remembered. A Halloween party was given for local orphanage; Christmas gifts were presented to National Nursing Home and Rehabilitation Center; Easter egg hunt was a big event for Prather School whose special education program is known to the area. The members of this group under the sponsorship of Mrs. Mary Lou Byers plan to pursue medical or social service careers. In this capacity representatives helped administer hearing tests and measles vaccine to Clark County youth working with all school nurses.

Officers of Bartonettes are Janet Coombs, president; Beth Buckles, vice-president; Kathy Jones, secretary; Kate Morrow, treasurer; Karen Woerhle, historian; Vickie Barnett, publicity.

Tri-Hi-Y Clubs Have Become Involved

This year the Tri-Hi-Y clubs have been involved in working with PEOPLE. The major projects have dealt with programs for the Head Start groups in this area. The girls worked in groups of five or six to give Halloween and Christmas parties. The most important aspect of these programs is the person to person contact. Tri-Hi-Y is a school sponsored club which attempts to work not only in the community, but in the school also. The Junior-Senior Club presented a forty-page photo album of old Jeff High campus to the school this year. The club also engages in service, social and charitable endeavors.

Homemakers Open Widely Future Doors

Activities of the Future Homemakers have been many and varied this year. The group decorated a float that "drowned" during Homecoming parade, sold cookbooks, and collected Betty Crocker coupons for kidney machine. A State trooper showed film, spoke to group, and directed discussion on drug use. The trophies were polished in main hallway to look more impressive. Other projects included Christmas dinner, valentines sent to service men from JHS, letters were written to retired teachers, spring banquet, and finally, packing for the move to new high school.

Future Teachers Hold Important Keys

Future Teachers of America holds the keys to many doors: opportunity, recognition, learning, and the future. FTA helps to prepare ambitious students for their chosen careers in teaching. The Jeff chapter has had various speakers and films for meetings. Each year this chapter presents a scholarship to an outstanding senior member. To raise money the club has had its annual doughnut sale, coat-check at basketball games, and a bake sale. A banquet was held and a field trip to Ball State College was enjoyed. This year the chapter was honored to have Jon Beck, selected as Mr. FTA in this region.

A New Student Theatre Captures Notice

"New" was in the limelight for the JHS Student Theatre this year. As the new year started so did a new student theatre. With this new theatre we welcomed a new director. Mr. Jim Rueff had abandoned the broadcast microphone to assume teaching assignments and to become the director and sponsor of our theatre. The 1970-1971 season sparkled open with the successful production of the Broadway Musical-Comedy, Bye Bye Birdie. Rehearsals in preparation for the presentation of Birdie on the nights of December 3rd, 4th, and 5th began early in October. Many hours of hard work were spent by the students as well as by Mr. Rueff and Mr. John Cleveland, our tremendous choral director.

Student Theatre did not rest on its laurels from Birdie. Rehearsals started in early March for the May 7th and 8th performances of the delightful farce-comedy, The Matchmaker. Hard work and sincere cooperation among the members proved that success really can happen twice in one year, and in a big way, too!

Opening night curtain-calls singing "Put on a Happy Face" are enjoyed by cast: Kay Marshall, Sherry Lomax, Lise Scott, Monica Dages, Barry McCammon, Dennis Constantine, Mickey Sawyer, Gary Woodson, Carol Bishop, Pat Kallanback, Gail Jones, Charlie White, Mike Olges, Jenny Dupaquier, Bev Coutts, Terri Farr, Sandra Brown, Danny Evans, Lynn Paynter, Sue Phillips, Terry Hamilton, Dede Ballou, Becky Conlon, Mark Torres, Debbie Schenker, Terry Hilbert, Judy Yates, Kerry Herdt, Kirk Mills, Ann Torres, Grace Murphy, Bruce Elder, Susan Manus, Mike Callahan, Terry Voignier, Debbie Dodds.

Nothing can quite compare with the sensation you feel when the curtain rises on opening night. Regardless of whether you're the star of the show or just one of the stage-hands there's still that feeling of tense anticipation. For the star it's especially hectic. He is in that last minute makeup session; then, dives for his position on stage. A quick look to see that lights are on properly, and with the script racing through his head the curtain rises.

Suppose you are the star—the first thing you are aware of is the blinding lights. Through the semi-haze you are vaguely conscious of the audience, but through the course of the play they seem to melt away. As you are swept up in the current of the play, you are constantly listening for cues, following the dialogue, sub-consciously worrying whether or not the stage-hands will change the lights in the third act. You feel warm under the multitude of lights yet your skin is wet and clammy. A joke in the dialogue, you thought was funny in rehearsals suddenly becomes dull. Before the end of the first act you can tell the play is going to be a success and you feel proud that you helped make it a success. There's always that tendency to ham up your part, but you try to curb yourself. You're working as a team, but can't resist the temptation to upstage one of the other actors. Between the acts you scramble madly for the makeup. Everyone needs a little touching up and to quickly change costumes.

If you are a good actor, you'll receive good reviews. If, on the other hand, you're new and un-experienced, you'll find yourself tense. You will try to relax, but yet feel those ever present butterflies. The play moved swiftly. Realizing its success your actions become freer as the play progresses. As the curtain falls, you feel tired but proud—a little warm, but very happy.

Concert Choir Is Highly Selected Group

The Concert Choir is a highly select group of upper classmen. They perform the most songs, participate in the most public performances and festivals of all the choirs in Jeffersonville High School. The Concert Choir numbers anywhere from 50 to 70 students. This year the enrollment is 54. This is perhaps the most versatile and uniformly capable Concert Choir I have taught in my nine years at Jeff High. It has been an unqualified pleasure to teach this choir all year. Some of the year's activities and concerts have included the following: Assembly programs for the student body; the annual Christmas Concert and Spring Choral Concert at Parkview Jr. High Theiss Auditorium; The Valley Choral Festival (at Seymour this year); The State

Solo-ensemble Contest; The Indiana State Organizational Contests at Clarksville; and a number of other concerts for Community Organizations, Elementary Schools, and other High Schools in the area.

John Cleveland,
Choral Director

Advanced Girls' Chorus Is Outstanding

This is one of the most outstanding Girls' Chorus in the area. They participate in the annual Christmas and Spring concerts, the various Choral contests and other special public appearances. Girls in this group are selected from either the Freshman Chorus or Intermediate Choir of the previous year. They have never received less than a rating of I at the state choral contest.

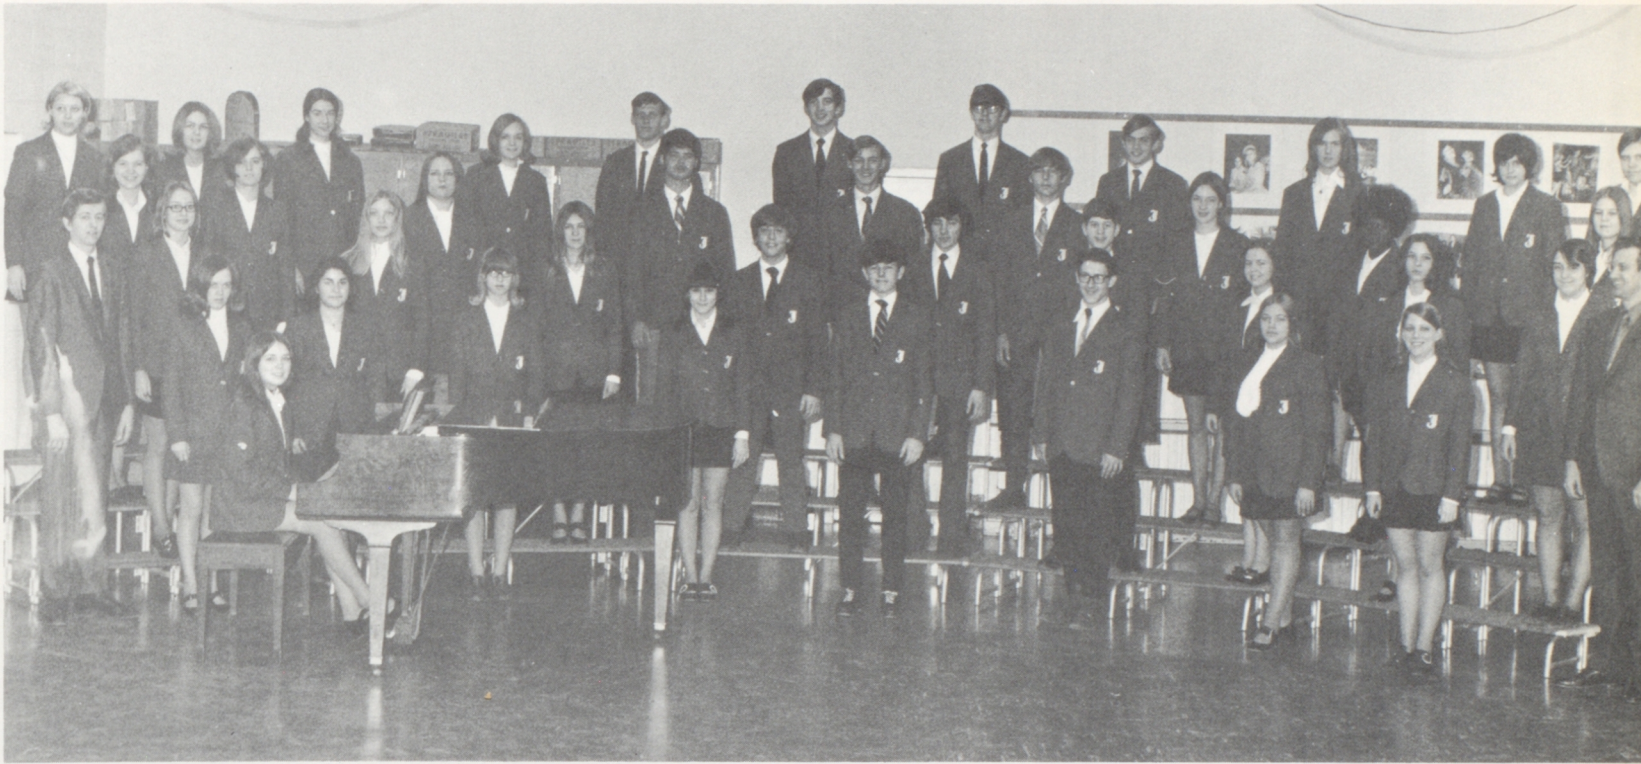

Girls' Ensemble, selected by audition, performs for community occasions: (row 1) Phyllis Oliver, Karen Lehman, Sherry Lomax, Rhonda Dunn, Debbie DeWeese, Mickey Sawyer; (row 2) Leona Murphy, Debra Sinnett, Elizabeth Purser, Gayla Andres, Lisa Bodine; (row 3) Cindy Thrasher, Theresa Bierly, Robin Zenor, Janet Utley.

Marie Wallace, Elizabeth Purser; (row 4) Sherry Lomax, Patty Alford, Cindy Thrasher, Dina Bischof, Lisa Bodine, Becky Cannon, Robin Zenor, Janet Utley. Mr. Michael Wade, student teacher from Indiana State, served as accompanist due to absence of Cindy Dempsey who was on concert tour at that time.

Intermediate Choir Likes Popular Music

Ellingsworth, Dede Ballou; (row 3) Theresa Wilhoite, Tina Walker, Helen Marsh, Don Hargett, Mike VerPloeg, Ken Abbott, Debbie Snyder, Beverly Coutts, Connie Kramer; (row 4) Paula Frakes, Lynn Stubblefield, Marilyn Lawrence, Kay Marshall, Kirk Mills, Harold Cleveland, Mike Huff, Robert Coffee, Lisa Scott, Karen Vanderpool, Paula Bateman.

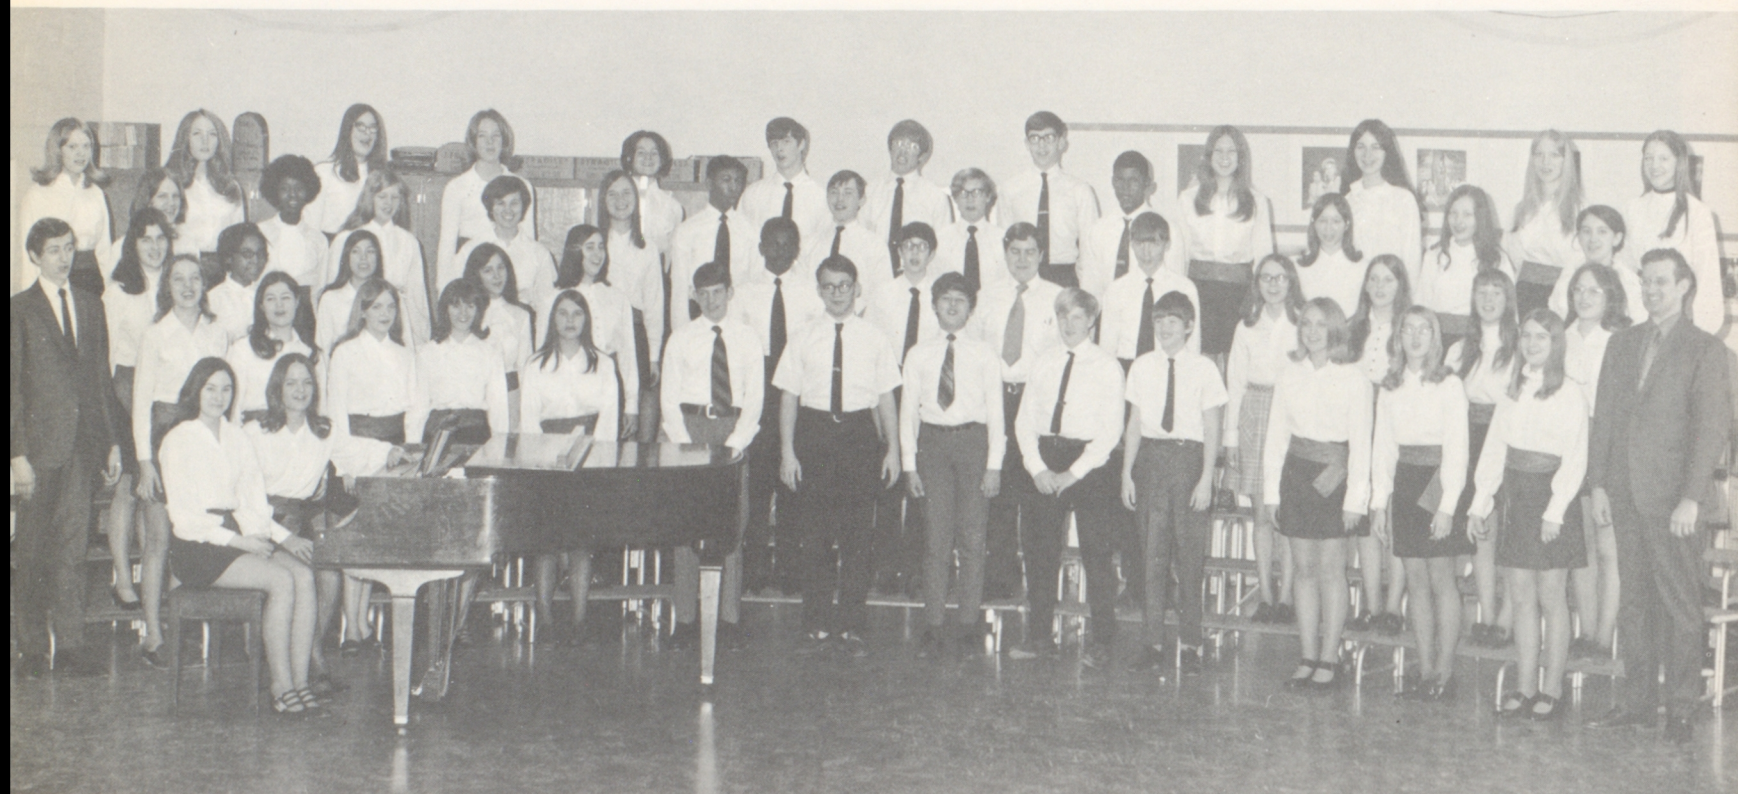

The Intermediate Choir is made up of sophomores and a few upper classmen. It is mainly a training choir, but on performance level. The repertoire is usually music of a more popular nature. This choir performs in all major concerts, participates in Indiana State choral contests, and special occasions. The Christmas concert was a beautiful and most colorful event—remember.

Music is the expression of Man's soul.
It is founded upon the sweat of his brow,
And inspired by the beating of his heart.
It is simple, It is strong;
It elevates its listeners to the climax of imagined existence.
It is sweet, it is delicate;
It voices the wooings of a lover's heart.
It is above all things supreme.
It tells a tale, yet it speaks not.
It sings a melody in chords.

It reaches into the high heavens and unfolds
a ladder to the lowliest, that he may climb.
Music is the surging of Life's blood through veins of God's creation.
It is gentle. But, with all its gentleness,
It thrusts a two-edged sword into the heart of man's wisdom.
Music is the expression of Man's soul.
It is akin to God; far closer kin than man's soul has yet become.

Freshman Chorus Pursues Standards

The Freshman Chorus is very active and pursues the high standards of performance set by choral groups of Jeffersonville High School. Participating in concerts and contests were (row 1) Becky Staley and Becky Orem, accompanists, Mr. Wade, student teacher, Edwina Snyder, Vicki Tomerlin, Kay Nix, Debbie Shearer, Deanna Briles, Frank Sample, Dale Zollman, Rodney VerPloeg, Danny Evans, Paul Dean, Patti Carl, Glenda Dillon, Christy Fitch, Mr. Cleveland, director; (row 2) Mitzi Minton, Brenda Stum, Mary Hoppes, Cheryl Baldwin, Mary Homm, Bill Gillespi,

Strings Delight All Performing Musicians

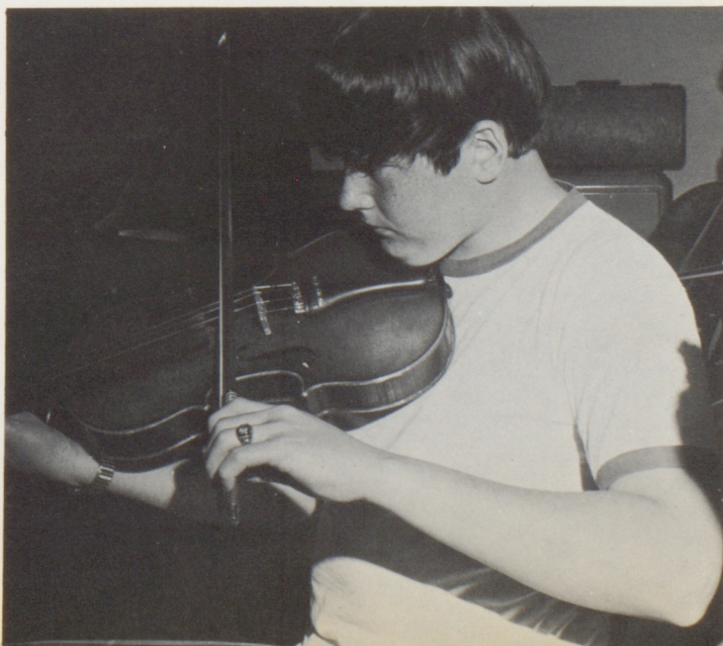

The string players of Jeffersonville High School first performed during the fall for these elementary schools: Parkwood, Northhaven, Ewing Lane, and Rose Hill. An invitation was extended for string music to accompany the FHA Christmas banquet. The string players from JHS and Parkview entertained Ewing Lane PTA in late April. All of the string players from various elementary schools in which Mrs. Wolf teaches combined with players from Parkview and Jeff High for a concert at Theiss Auditorium in May. Our music has pleased the spectators and served as excellent training for performing musicians.

Preston, Susan Morgan, Pam Page, Donna House, Debra Robertson, Darlene Jeremiah, Mollye Morrow, Debbie Pangburn, Sandy Johnston, Patty Stillwell, Donna Matthews, Ann Williamson.

Beginning the 1970-71 season were eleven new members selected for Jeff's J-Ettes and another busy year. Four senior members, Vickie Barnett, Gail Connor, Carol Hurdle, and Debbie Pangburn, attended a workshop at Vincennes University, Vincennes, Indiana. Practices started in early September with preparations for our Homecoming parade, Harvest Festival in New Albany, and half-time performances at football games. Practices continued every Wednesday evening throughout basketball season where again the J-Ettes entertained with routines—"Put On A Happy Face," "Hawaii 5-O," "Sissy Street," and "As the Parade Passes Me By." The girls sold stationery to send next year's J-Ettes to camp. The last official performance of this group was Memorial Day Parade; then thirteen seniors depart but leave seventeen trained underclassmen to rebuild for another great season. Charms were presented to graduating J-Ettes on Honors Day.

The Student Competes

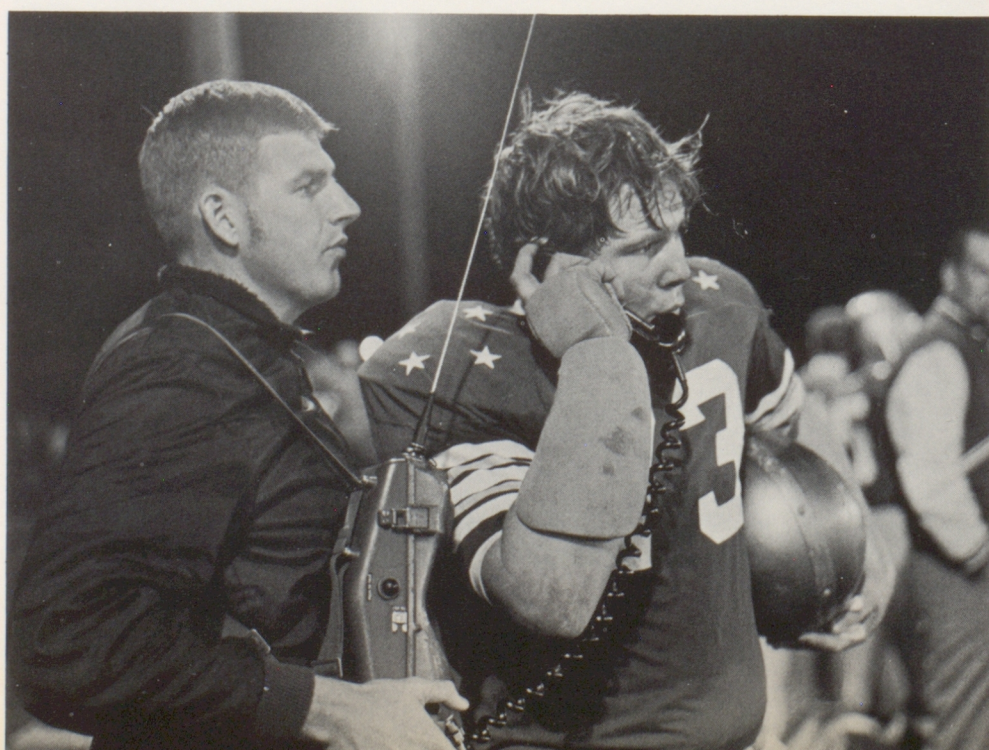

Competition encourages sportsman attitudes. Being "but a youth" should not be a handicap. It is your challenge and your opportunity to make your today—and your tomorrow—exemplify your highest hopes, ideals, and efforts. Says Russell Freedman of teens who made history: "When they succeeded, it was often because they were so young, because they possessed the hope, vigor, and enthusiasm which have always belonged to all young people everywhere."

First-year head football coach, Bob Brown, made his presence widely felt in Red Devil pigskin circles as he guided Jeff to a record and a second-place finish in the tough South Central Conference. With Coach Doc Bolton's departure after several winning seasons, the new coach inherited material many so-called experts believed would not win more than two or three games. Coach Brown since then has molded them into a winning outfit.

Although the record is surprising to many observers, Coach Brown remarked, "We have not jelled fully as a team, our offense has been pulling our defense. The game with Seymour was offensively and defensively our best game. The score was not representable of the way we controlled them." Coach Brown labeled Phil Ellis, Bill Scott, Tom Hill, Pat Bryant, and Mike Croudep as the biggest assets to the squad. "Although we are missing the very talented players like we were known to have a few years ago, many have done much this year." As for the surprising record, Coach Brown commented, "We have to be cautious against being satisfied with 6-1. You can't let up, you have to push harder." Looking toward the future of Red Devil football, he added, "One problem we are having is the consistency in our program. Many boys decide to drop football after their sophomore year and pick it up later. I hope to try to stop this practice. In order for us to be a respectful football power, we have to have continuity in the football program."

Jeffersonville's Freshman football team rounded out its season by losing to St. Xavier of Louisville. The game which was nip and tuck wasn't really decided until the last four minutes. "They were a big, aggressive ballclub," said Coach Blois. "They had eighty boys to our twenty-eight, and they wore us out with the platoon system." For the Frosh, it was only the second loss in seven outings. "It was a rather gratifying season in terms of how many boys we had," stated Coach Blois. "The boys we did have stuck in there and played consistently. Actually, we improved every game which we played. These boys were coachable and learned fast."

A Boy Prepares for Meets—Training on

Mr. Michael Ehringer, Jeffersonville High School Cross Country Coach, first became interested in Cross Country during his sophomore year at Providence in 1963. Mr. Ehringer feels that there is a definite correlation between the mental and physical aspects of cross country. "I feel that ones achievement in school and in cross country carries over into ones adult life, based upon my own personal experience. Providence recruits its runners," said Ehringer. "They look at the boys' grades and then see how well they run, then recruit them."

Mr. Ehringer enjoys coaching cross country very much because personally he enjoys running himself. One reward of coaching cross country is that one gains friends, not only with his own team members, but also with members of other teams. Before the meets Coach Ehringer just talks to the boys. "A coach can do just so much. Sometimes before a meet we listen to a record called, 'The Will of a Champion,' by Bob Richards, but most always a boy has to get ready for a meet on his own. It is a matter of pride. Some runners can train for three or four weeks and be in top shape, but you'll find that to be a real champion one has to run and train all year-round."

Gymnasts Show Potential, Interest, Effort

The gymnastics team, which has been in existence at Jeffersonville High School for three years, has never had a losing season. Last year's team was not only undefeated, but was also fifth in the sectional and ninth in the state. The team is composed of the following young men: Cliff Zollman, this year's strong man, will be number one man on the high bar, and perform the parallel bars and the rings well during his senior year. Leonard Kong, also a senior, is the number one man in the free exercise and will compete in the side horse, tumbling, high bars, and the rings. Gary Roberts, a junior, is strong in tumbling, in free exercise, trampoline, high bar, and side horse. John Garner, another junior, works the free exercise, the trampoline, tumbling, parallel bars, and rings. Eddie Gill, ineligible this semester, should return as number two man. Robert Coffee, a sophomore, is very strong on the side horse, and parallel bars. Mark Gelback, also a sophomore, is working on the trampoline and tumbling. Maurice Barrett, the lone freshman is number one man on the trampoline; number two man on tumbling, and works well in free exercise, rings, and parallel bars.

What does it take to be a good gymnast? "It takes a very healthy interest and the ability to put forth a good effort," concluded Coach Wiese.

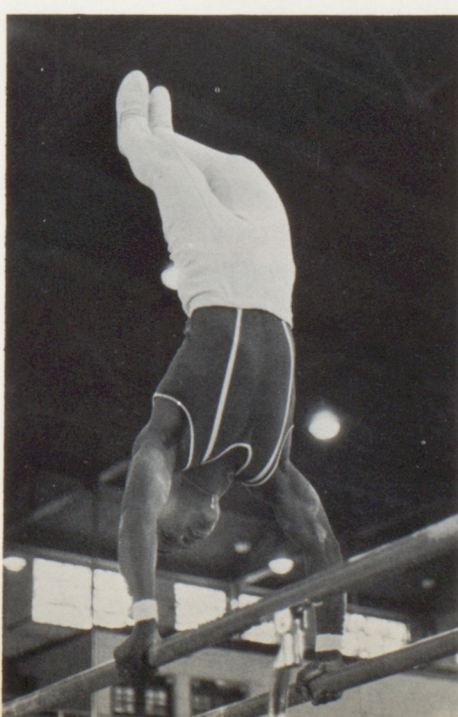

Top left: Cliff Zolman does hand-stand on parallel bars. Top middle: Gary Roberts performs floor exercise. Top left: Mark Schiller begins routine on high bar. Above: Robert Coffee demonstrates skill on side horse. Lower left, middle: Maurice Barnett positions himself; then changes grip during routine on high bar. Improvement is the key word for the wrestling team this season. There are thirty-eight wrestlers practicing with the team, including six pairs of brothers: Mark and Paul Luther, Tim and Steve Thomas, Terry and Louis Rosbottom, Tim and Rusty Sullivan, Mark and Matt Zelli, Larry and Robert Belcher. Team members consist of 16 freshmen, 14 sophomores, 5 juniors, and 3 seniors. This indicates that if these people return, wrestling has a bright future at Jeff.

Coach Chapala feels wrestling has a big future at Jeff. This year the whole team returned. In fact, only one boy has quit in the last two years. Coach Chapala had words about athletes in general:

"Any phase—whether it's swimming, football, basketball, wrestling, or baseball—is a reflection on the town. Sports is the best and cheapest way for publicity. A town should keep up with its athletes when they go to college—become real sports-minded." "There are too many fine athletes walking the halls of Jeffersonville High School and not getting involved with anything but the classroom phase. Where I came from, every boy had some sport that was competitive. Sports have been my whole life. I have to be involved and working with them on a personal relationship. I like Jeff and want to build a state contender in wrestling," commented Coach Chapala.

Winning sectionals isn't everything as many Red Devil fans confess after the stunning loss to Floyd Central. Although most coaches work towards the season-ending sectional, regional, semi-state and finals, regular season games do not go unnoticed. This first year Coach Marshall guided his Demon crew to a 15-5 regular-season final record. Not only was it the Devils best record in some time, but with it, Coach George Marshall and crew brought home at least a share of the South Central Conference Crown. The 1970-71 version of basketballers weren't supposed to win very many games; especially against annual powers as Seymour, Jasper, Silver Creek, and Columbus. In fact, against Seymour, Jasper, and Silver Creek, Jeff handed them their first loss of the season.

Individually speaking, Mike Flynn paced the club with a record number of points this season. Flynn ended his senior year with a total of 629 points, which includes the sectional. Next in line was sophomore Jeff Frey, who pumped in 286 markers. Junior Pat Bryant, who won a starting role midway through the season, ended with 230 points. Bryant hit in double figures in his last eleven contests. Rounding out the starters were Steve Havens who canned 138 tallies and Mark Inman's 84. Senior Jim Fishel, a starter in early season action, ended the season with 82.

Mike Flynn holds the school record for the most points scored by a high school player at Jeff; in addition, he holds the individual high in one game which was 51 against Providence, a county rival. Flynn hit in double figures in every game this season, his lowest against South Central in sectional action. Jeff concluded the season on a losing note, but that has to be overshadowed by the record of earlier first losses to opponents. Dressing for the last time in a Red Devil uniform were six seniors—Brad McIntyre, Bruce Lawrence, Mike Croudep, Jim Fishel, Steve Havens, and Mike Flynn, Jeff's greatest.

1970-71 saw Coaches Cheesman and Ehringer at the helm of the Devil Cinderman for the second year. Every year it seems like one is hit with the words "youth" and "potential" when dealing with Red Devil track fortunes. This season is no exception because, according to Coach Cheesman, the track team is abundant in both these areas. There are about sixty boys out for the team, and only eight are seniors. This indicates much youth and great potential for the future. Sophomore Bill Barnett continued to dominate the sprints and again wound up the top point getter for the team. He especially dazzled the crowds by anchoring Jeff's 880 relay team to a new school record of 1:33.4—not broken since 1959. Other members who helped carry the baton to record time were senior Tom Hill, junior Dennis Bogard, and sophomore Tony Winburn.

In the distance department Alan Parris led the way by breaking his own record of 10:09.3 early in the season. At the New Albany Invitational it was clear that Dave Droddy was going to give Parris plenty of competition before the season finished, as Parris finished 3rd in 10:01.8 and Droddy 4th in 10:02. Droddy verified his threat at the conference meet by finishing 4th in a time of 10:01.6 to nip just two-tenths of a second off Alan's record. Both will be shooting for sub-ten minute times next season. In other events at the Invitational Bill Thornley, a senior, finished 4th in the mile run against a tough field. Barnett grabbed 3rd in the 220; Dennis McCorvie, 4th in the high jump; Tom Hill and Barnett dominated the long jump with finishes of 2nd and 3rd, respectively; Rick Coyte captured 3rd in the pole vault. In the 880 relay Jeff finished 2nd and in the mile relay got a 3rd. Coach Cheesman said, "We will definitely improve and should have more quality for sectional competition. We're young, and we've got many things to look forward to—youth and potential," added Coach Cheesman.

Baseball Finds Strength: Pitching-Hitting

Spring Sports bloom as the 1971 Red Devils Baseball team lined up at home-plate. Although this team's pitching is its strong suit, the hitting has proved most adequate.

The first game saw junior Rich Davis take the mound and pick up his first win by defeating Floyd Central. Davis got support from Jerry Pike starting a rally which enabled Jeff to score six runs in the first inning. Jeff rolled to its second win as they defeated host St. Xavier 6-1. Rick Romans, one of Southern Indiana's best, took control of the game with his superb pitching. The classy senior struck out 15 batters and allowed only one hit, a bunt single. "I'm very pleased with Rick's performance," said Coach Cunningham. "He has a fast ball, but his curve breaks best when the weather is warm." Hitting proved effective as the Demons collected seven hits. Top hitter was senior Sam Thompson with help coming from Mike Owen, Terry Romans, Jerry Pike, and Don Ward. "Our hitting proved to be adequate in the first two ball games. We have 13 hits in 11 innings which isn't bad. I think our field play was pretty good; we made four errors but they were all minor ones," added the Devil coach.

The 1971 spring version of the Jeff tennis team received a rude awakening in their opening game—a dual match with Country Day where the Devils were defeated 5-2. This year's team has had the best turnout in participants. For the first time Jeff will have a Junior Varsity tennis squad.

The team is young and the experience limited. All of the first five singles players were on last year's team. Lawrence has four years behind him. VanDenover and Austin are the only returning juniors. Mr. Pat Shockey, in his second year as coach, has worked with Athletic Director Cheesman in compiling a very formidable schedule.

Inman Captured SCC Individual Golf Title

Golf team members are Mark Inman, Bob Mode, David Hillman, Ed Kochert, Rick Tavern, Joey Molnar, Coach Mike Colston.

Jeffersonville's Mark Inman captured the South Central Conference individual golf title at Greensburg when the Jeff junior bested Greg Ayers of Franklin in a sudden death playoff.

Bloomington won the team title beating Columbus which placed second and Franklin that clinched the third position. Inman received little support from his Devil Teammates though, as they finished ninth in a field of ten. A fantastic 40-foot chip shot by Inman on the 18th hole enabled him to tie Ayers and force the playoff. Inman missed the 18th in regulation as his approach shot sailed over the green. However, Inman hit what Jeff coach Mike Colston termed an "almost impossible" shot to within five feet of the pin and Mark dropped the putt for the tie. Inman bested Ayers on the first extra hole as he sank a putt from about eight feet. Shelbyville finished fourth, while Greensburg, Connersville, Rushville, Seymour, Jeffersonville, and Martinsville finished in that order after the leaders. The SCC tournament should be to Jeff's liking next fall when it will be played at the Elks Club which is home for the Demons.

The Student Seeks

Ever seeking, can we find it?
Will the darkness shed some light?
Not unless we keep on searching,
Dying for the truth, the right.
Truth to fight for, live for, die for;
May all honor it far and wide;
There is nothing that is worthy
When it is the truth we hide.
Individuals remain the pulse beat of school life—unchanged, still seeking—people.

Class of '74 Is Ambitious

The Class of 1974 enrolled this year breaking many old traditions. Numbering 700+ was the first record; then, at Homecoming this group won the most-spirited award for its participation. Remarkable is the scholastic achievement of a class where one-sixth have scored on the A - B Honor Roll. Active in sports, Student Theatre, chorus, band, and pep club have been our new "crickets". More accomplishments and rewards will be theirs, tomorrow.

Time
Oh so fleet is the foot of time
On which you are carried through life;
But it sometimes seems to pass
you by
When your heart is heavy
With sorrow and strife.
You're borne into a world of sin,
A realm of love and hate;
And here your future is guided forth
By God, and not by Luck and fate.
But life is short and soon comes
death;
The song of your life has been sung.
Yet death is always the fate of the old—
The terrible accident
Of the young.

Class of '73

The Class of 1973 has had many activities to reinforce their budget for the "big event" of their Junior year. They have planned early by selling candy, by sponsoring bake-sales, by collecting rummage, and by pinning Booster buttons on the student body. In pep rallies this group has cheered its way down victory lane more than once. In a recent Tug-o-War this group outlasted all other classes losing only to the mighty J.H.S. faculty.

Left: Girls casually admire our super sophomore boys who sun themselves outside the bookstore, but do occasionally peer toward the fair ones.

The Class of 1972 has excelled throughout their high school years. As Juniors looking down at the Sophomores outweigh the disadvantage of looking up to the Seniors. The event of the year—Prom Night—will be a night to remember, May 15, 1971. Class rings were delivered late this year but captivated their proud owners. Three juniors—David Brownstein, Jan Johanningsmeier, and Bill Wagner—earned starting positions on the '71 Hi-Q team.

Members held impressive roles in Bye-Bye Birdie and The Matchmaker, presented by Student Theatre. Band, Concert Choir, and Pep Club as well as all sports had outstanding leaders. Stars include David Drodgy, cross-country; T o m m y Vandener, tennis; Alan Parris, track; Pat Bryant and Mike Ellis, football; Tim Thomas, wrestling; Pat Bryant, Mark Inman, and John Rhett, basketball; Gary Roberts, gymnastics; Richard Davis, baseball. This class has achieved much recognition.

The Student Triumphs

"Our fathers fought for liberty,
They struggled long and well,
History of their deeds can tell—
But Ourselves must set us free."

Confident seniors step into leadership, look past high school to further education, steady jobs, adult responsibilities, receive diplomas—end of an era, but open new doors triumphly asking

Where do I go from here?
The world is there before me.
The decision time is even near.

Where do I go from here?
A doctor, lawyer, or engineer,
What should I actually try to be?
Where do I go from here?
The world is there before me.

ONE LAST LOOK

Class Finds Wisdom, Knowledge, Love

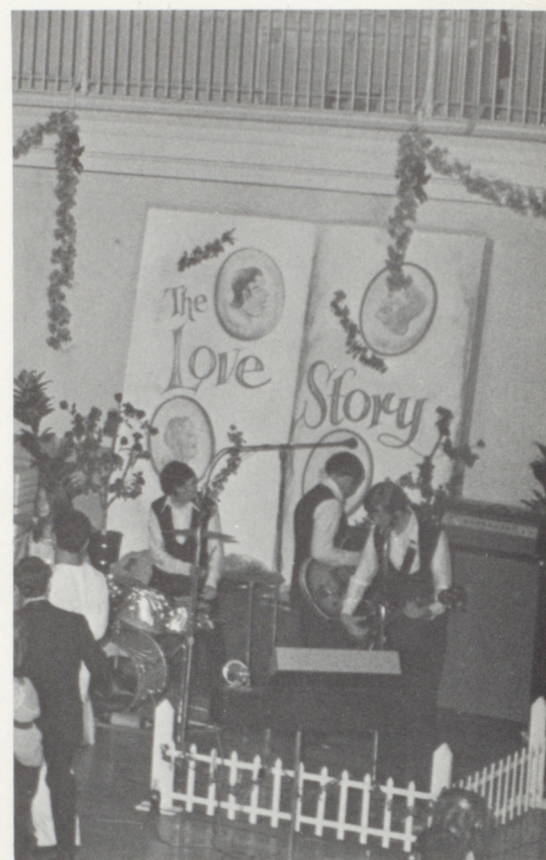

For the hundreth time Jeffersonville High School has had a senior class to graduate. We, the Class of 1971, have this honor and distinction. Proudly do we uphold our school's traditions. The past four years have gone too quickly. We have been preparing ourselves for graduation and prosperous vocations, but we now realize that departure is only a few steps away. Those members of this great class who tried to improve, grow, develop, and give have found a place to remember and have become a class not likely to be forgotten.

The senior class appreciates the cooperation, respect, and integrity of the faculty and administrators who have encouraged us to measure accurately our years together, find able leaders, and lasting friends.

Therefore, as we take this "One Last Look," we feel that we reflect the promise of the future.

Class of 1971

Class officers are Claude Martin Rosen, president; Judy Lynn Chappell, treasurer; William Burch Thornley, vice-president; Rebecca Sue Leitch, secretary; (row 2) Vickie Lynn Barnett, Mary Christine Beard, Jacqueline Rita Jolley, John Elliott Nichols, executive officers.

The top ten scholars in the Class of 1971 are Byron David Baldrige, Susan Marie Phillips, Catherine Diane Hess, Mary Ann Sacksteder, Warren Hastings Miller, Sue Ellen Morris, Faith Anne Trinkle, John Wesley McCracken, Cora Ann Wermuth.

I'm in love with love, my love,
I'm in love with thee.

That is a statement of fact;
The question now will be,

"Are you in love with love, my love,
Are you in love with me?"

Busy places. Secret places.
Places one goes to live his life
and dream his dreams.
Today they're images—sharp
and clear.
Indelibly imprinted on the mind.
Tomorrow they'll dim in the haze of forgetfulness—Enchanted lands in a world of fantasy
Unless they're remembered forever in a book . . . Vividly, Realistically.
Almost magically.

The Class of 1971 has come—and gone—its memories remain.

The Student Invests

As Americans we are individuals, possessing rights, freedoms, and opportunities. Economically, we enjoy an average higher level of living than do those of other lands, yet let us never be boastful. Where would we be without the sound foundations of our heritage or the steeples of our faith! It is for us to keep the walls firm and the windows shining.

Jeffersonville High School now stands alone. The doors have been closed at 601 East Court Avenue by Principal Terry Cummins and Dr. Joseph S. Foust.

TEFFERSONVILLE HIGH SCHOOL

The way thus far may have seemed long, but the road ahead will be a longer one. It must be broadened and smoothed, with the view ahead made clear, for the benefit of the many who will travel this way in the days and years that are yet to be.
